CORCERNING

and POMFRACT Castle,

SENT IN

A LETTER

To a Gentleman of note living in the old Jury, July 28.

Onne Thomas, I pray God bleffe you and keep you in all your actions; These are to let you understand, I receiv'd your Letters dated the 15 of this instant, and two books; for the which I thanke you: also since another Letter dated the 17 of this instant. For newes here, after so long and tedious a siege, it pleased God to deliver pomfract Castle into our hands upon Munday last, I was in it my selfe on Tuesday, and truly it is a very strong hold; If they had had but provision, it had been impossible to have taken it. The enemy was to march to Newark with Drums and Colours, and 200 Muskettiers, but no Officer to have more then what was really their owne, to carry no more then is portable; there is great riches left therein: And Generall Poynes tooke this course, hee sent the enemies with a strong guard, and appointed one Captaine or Officer of every Regiment to keep the Castle, and to prize all things in it, and so to be sold, and the owners of any goods that is in it to have the first proffer; and so himselfe drew off all the rest of the Armie that night, and marched to Sandall Castle, and summoned it, but they are very stiffe, and will not yeeld it, so I carried three battering peeces to it, and am about sending more to beat it about their eares: Also this day is Scarborough Castle yeelded, I have sent you here enclosed the copie of the Articles verbatim, so I will say no more of that, but referre you to them. God knowes they have been two troublesome pieces of work, I am sure they have made me many an ill nights work, and day. and now we are for other Castles, so that my paines and care is never at an end, the Lord enable me to goe through it, as he hath wonderfully done hitherto, his holy Name be praised for it.

I would desire you to send me down a pot of salve for my legge, for healing and cleansing of it, and you shall heare more of the effect of it afterwards. Thus being glad to heare of your health and welfare, being the onely joy your Mother and I hath in this world, with our prayers to God to continue his blessing upon You and us all, desiring to heare from you by the next Post,

I rest your ever loving Father, till death,

J. A. HOPKINSON.
